All programs identified the pandemic as a significant opportunity for growth including new and expanded community partnerships and new opportunities for virtual service delivery and training.
  - Catherine Smith, AmeriCorps member with UA STEM Program, shared her experience as a tutor and how she was able to work with peers at her own high school to love math as much as she does. Catherine is looking forward to future terms of service in the future.
  - Alyson Orr, AmeriCorps VISTA at BLOOM 365, shared her excitement about capacity building with BLOOM 365. Alyson's service has increased the number of Lead Peer Advocates from 2 to 30, as well as 90 teen volunteers. Supervisor Donna Bartos shared that Alyson has been a great mentor to these middle and high school students!
  - Lora Pirzynski, AmeriCorps member with Interfaith Community Services in Tucson, term of service started with an inquiry into how her father could get transportation to a Covid vaccine clinic. She learned about what ICS was doing and signed up to help seniors in Tucson by transporting them to vaccine clinics. She has also supported operations at the food bank.
  - Dezeray Miranda, AmeriCorps member at Pima Prevention Partnership, serves at the Youth to Youth project. This is a youth leadership program that encourages peers to be drug-free as well as providing resources to parents.
