The graphic features a yellow background with geometric shapes in black, white, and purple. It includes logos for ASU Lodestar Center for Philanthropy and Nonprofit Innovation, Arizona State University, and the Arizona Governor's Commission on Service and Volunteerism. Two circular portraits of Michael D. Smith and Mayor Kate Gallego are shown. A date and time icon indicates the event is on March 13th from 3 PM to 5 PM. A black box at the bottom left specifies the location as ASU's Downtown Phoenix campus.

A vertical graphic divided into three horizontal panels. The top panel is titled "Educate" in a black box and shows a man in a dark polo shirt standing in front of a mountain range. The middle panel is titled "Empower" in a yellow box and shows a woman in a teal top smiling. The bottom panel is titled "Connect" in a red box and shows a group of four people smiling. Below the panels, the text "We build the capacity to accelerate" is visible, followed by a list of services: "Academic Degree Programs", "Ask the Nonprofit Specialists", "Best Skills Best Churches", "Board Governance Training", and "Capacity Support Services".

A maroon podium sign with a gold border. It features the ASU Lodestar Center logo, which includes the text "ASU Lodestar Center" in a large font, "for Philanthropy &amp; Nonprofit Innovation" in a smaller font below it, and "ARIZONA STATE UNIVERSITY" in a small font at the bottom. The website address "lodestar.asu.edu" is printed in a large font at the bottom of the sign.

Thank you @ASU for supporting @AmeriCorps! It was inspiring to see how innovative programs not only address urgent needs but also help those who serve build new skills, expand their networks, and consider new paths in education and employment: news.asu.edu/20230310-ameri...
